

This project shows a completed analysis about the scattering network and convolution network. What's more, this project gives a poster which shows the final result clearly. However, the project should give visualization in the low dimension space to further illustrate the different classification performance on MNIST dataset. Besides, I do not understand the low performance of ScatNet + SVM, which might be because the nonlinear feature extracted by the ScatNet.

4 points