This project shows a completed analysis about the scattering network and convolution network. What's more, this project gives a poster which shows the final result clearly. However, in the methodology section, the project suggests that they use the pre-trained network to extract image features. However, the project does not tell us fine-tune which layer. I also think this project should give more mathematical analysis in the conclusion.

4 point